Wednesday, October 21st

11:00 AM - 12:00 PM: On the Road to Minneapolis - Rebuilding Community

The killing of George Floyd added a layer of social unrest and purpose to the blossoming challenges of Covid-19 and its economic, workplace, and social consequences. The conference travels to Minneapolis to explore what this means for community, diversity, and Human Resources. We're joined by three community and business leaders who share stories of resilience, strategy, and some of the creative work already underway.

4:00 PM - 5:00 PM : On the Road to Lancaster, Pennsylvania & Broadway in NYC - Life Imitates Art

The workforce issues demanding our attention are illustrated poignantly through the arts – the medium to which we escape in times of turmoil. Facing staggering unemployment and halted revenue, not to mention having a magnifying glass on actor diversity and representation of POC throughout the industry – live theatre is a microcosm of the challenges many organizations are facing today.

Thursday, October 22nd

11:00 AM - 12:00 PM: On the Road to Chicago - Your HR Niche is the Magic of a Story

It's a difficult time in America and certainly for all of us serving in human resources. Maybe our HR niche and calling rests in a renewed recognition of the people who work at our sides, the values of our organizations, and the way we communicate that through stories.

4:00 PM - 5:00 PM: On the Road to the Grand Canyon - The Impactful Business Partner During Covid 19

When momentous things happen – and that certainly is the case now – how do you recognize the challenge, identify potential allies, and turn towards the betterment? How can HR leaders grasp the crises of health, economy, and race relations and rise to those challenges?

Wednesday, October 28th

11:00 AM - 12:00 PM: On the Road to Atlanta - Refreshing HR's Entrepreneurial Spirit

More info coming soon!

2:45 PM - 3:45 PM - On the Road to the West Coast - Research-Driven Decisions in Trying Times

How does HR aspire to make work more creative, impactful, and a safer harbor in this existential moment? What information sources are a necessary precursor? Specifically, how does HR employ science and research to understand people and organizations better? And, how do human resource professionals translate data and research into impactful strategy and decision-making?
